

Elected Artists Show

June 4-25, 2022

Maggie Bice

Maggie Bice is no stranger to the art world. Earning a BA in art as well as a teaching certificate, Maggie became an art teacher for elementary school children in grades K-7, as well as teaching in a school that served special needs students. An artist herself, she had a great interest in devoting more time to painting and promoting her own art, and began doing outdoor shows, selling her paintings in various locations throughout the east coast.

In Fredericksburg, VA, Maggie began working for regional library curating and hanging art in several library buildings. She then moved on to a career as a graphic artist, while remaining a curator on a part time basis. One of her career highlights as a curator for the library system was to create and organize an annual public art show which was dedicated to paintings of the Fredericksburg area. She also ran student art shows for grades 7-12, which was a position she thoroughly enjoyed. Since her retirement and relocation back to the shoreline CT area last year, she hopes to spend more time painting and rediscovering all the region has to offer.

Maggie is an award-winning painter and has exhibited nationally, including the Salmagundi Club in New York. She also had her work featured in the magazine New American Paintings.
